Appeal from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Georgia

(August 26, 2010)

Before DUBINA, Chief Judge, TJOFLAT and ANDERSON, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:

Appellants Mary Jane and Henry Harris appeal from the district court's grant of summary judgment in favor of the City of Augusta, Georgia, Richmond County Sheriff Ronnie Strength, and Officer Jimmy Wylds. The Appellants' brought federal claims pursuant to 42 U.S.C. § 1983 and state law claims for negligence, negligent retention, negligent training and supervision, and loss of consortium. Both the federal and state claims were brought in connection with another officer's handling of an alleged noise ordinance violation at the Appellants' home.¹

After reviewing the record and the parties' briefs, we affirm based on the well-reasoned Order entered by the district court on April 1, 2008.

AFFIRMED.

¹Deputy Charles McDowell, the officer at the scene, was terminated following an investigation into Harris's allegations. The complaint named McDowell as a co-defendant, but after he failed to answer the complaint, default was entered against him. He has not filed an appeal.
