Appeal from the United States District Court for the Southern District of Georgia
D.C. Docket No. 6:19-cv-00084-RSB-CLR

---

Before JORDAN, LUCK, and BRASHER, Circuit Judges.

PER CURIAM:

This is an interpleader action under 28 U.S.C. § 1335 brought by Standard Insurance Company concerning competing claims to life insurance proceeds. Yathomas Riley, one of the claimants who is proceeding pro se, appeals from the magistrate judge's November 12, 2025, order denying Riley's motions seeking a hearing and to exclude evidence. The Appellees move to dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction.

We lack jurisdiction over this appeal because the November 12 order is not final or otherwise appealable. Because the district court has not yet determined who is entitled to the life insurance proceeds, the order did not end the litigation on the merits and is thus not final. See 28 U.S.C. § 1291 (providing jurisdiction over “final decisions of the district courts”); CSX Transp., Inc. v. City of Garden City, 235 F.3d 1325, 1327 (11th Cir. 2000) (explaining that a final decision is “one which ends the litigation on the merits and leaves nothing for the court to do but execute the judgment.” (quotation marks omitted)). Nor is the order appealable under the collateral order doctrine, as it is effectively reviewable on appeal from a final judgment. See Acheron Cap., Ltd. v. Mukamal, 22 F.4th 979, 989 (11th Cir. 2022).

Accordingly, the motion to dismiss is GRANTED, and this appeal is DISMISSED for lack of jurisdiction. All other pending motions are DENIED as moot.
